We get some of it by recording how you interact with our products by, for example, using technologies like cookies.

You have control over what data we collect. When asked to provide personal data, you may decline. However, if you choose not to provide data that is necessary to provide goods or service, we may not be able to provide the goods or service.

The type and amount of data we collect varies in function of your relationship with us.

Credentials: We collect passwords, password hints and similar security information used for authentication and account access.

Credit accounts: If you apply for a credit account, we will collect your information to make searches with credit reference agencies and administer your account. You can find out more about this in the Credit checks section of How we share your data.

Location data: The mobile version of our Website will collect information about your location if location services are enabled on your mobile phone to help you locate your nearest YESSS branch. If your location services are not turned on, we will not collect any information about your location and you will need to manually input a postcode to find your nearest branch.

Your interactions with us: We collect the content of messages, e-mails, letters or phone calls you send us, such as feedback and product reviews you write, or questions and information you provide for customer support. When you contact us, phone conversations may be monitored and recorded.

We specifically save each device's unique identifying codes (MAC address or IMEI number) device model, device name, relevant IP address, operating system and version, web browser and version, and geographic location.

Why we process your information

There are several grounds on which we may collect and use your data, depending on your relationship with us.

Because you have agreed: Where possible, we collect information about you with your consent. This is the case, for instance, when you fill in paper or online forms and choose to provide us with your information.

Because we need it to execute or take steps to enter into a contract with you: If you are one of our customers, we collect or use your personal data because it is necessary for the performance of a contract you are a party to, for instance to deliver goods you have ordered. We may also collect your information because you requested us to take steps prior to entering into a contract with us, for instance when you ask us to give you a quote.

Because it is in our legitimate interest: We also sometimes process your information in pursuit of our legitimate interests to:

- carry out direct marketing activities and send you communications in that regard;
- improve our business and operate it efficiently;
- prevent fraud; and
- ensure general safety and security.

When we process your information on that basis, we always make sure that we balance our interest in having the information with your rights and reasonable expectations.

Because we need it to comply with the law: In some very rare cases, we will need to retain your information because we are compelled to do so by law.

How long we keep your information

YESSS retains personal data for as long as necessary to provide you with the goods and services you have requested, to operate our business, or for other essential purposes such as complying with our legal obligations, resolving disputes and enforcing our agreements. How long we keep data for depends on what it is used for, so retention periods will vary for different types of data.

Find out how we determine how long we keep information for.

The criteria below are good indicators of how we decide how long to keep data for:

- How long is the personal data needed to provide the goods and services and operate our business? This includes such things as maintaining good business and financial records. This is the general rule that establishes the baseline for most data retention periods.
- Is YESSS subject to a legal, contractual or similar obligation to retain the data? This includes cases where the law prescribes we should keep information for a given period of time, or where data must be preserved during an investigation, for current or potential litigation or contractual purposes. Some data must also be kept for audit purposes.
- Have you provided consent for a longer retention period? If so, we will retain data in accordance with your consent.

Transfers abroad

In some cases, we may need to transfer your information outside of the European Economic Area because we (or a third party or vendor we use) store it on systems that are hosted abroad, or because we need to share it with companies that are not situated in the European Economic Area.

Where this is the case, we will always ensure that your information is safe and only sent to organisations providing adequate safeguards, such as:

- Organisations established in countries providing adequate provisions to safeguard your personal information;
- Organisations who are contractually bound to protect your information;
- Organisations who have obtained Privacy Shield certification.

We may also transfer your data abroad if we have a legal obligation to do so.

Changes to this Policy

This Policy was last updated in May 2018. If we change our Privacy and Cookies Policy, we will update the changes on this website. We may also place notices on other pages of the website so you check our current policy at any time.
